

Approaching Sustainability Issues with Indigenous Legal Orders

Speaker Series with Darcy Lindberg (LLM, LD)

The plurality of Indigenous legal orders in Canada provides a multitude of different legal relationships with the environment. Where Canadian-state law may fail to offer protection and humane conduct towards the ecological world, Indigenous legal orders can address these failings. This lecture will explore Indigenous environmental laws and their historical and future application to environmental harms.

February 2
4:10-6:00pm

A Live Zoom Event for UofT Staff and Students

To register, copy and paste this to your browser:
<https://forms.gle/ZUrvuv66KAYFjNfi8>

Hosted by:

TRN312: Ethics, Society, and Law of Sustainability

Co-Sponsored by:

The Trinity Integrated Sustainability Initiative

&

The ES&L Students' Association

